YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Pacific Mail Contracts.

[illegible], Nov 15 The Tribune says a conference of a special committee of the Pacific Mail S. S. Co., the interests of overland railroads was held [illegible]. There were present Huntington, [illegible], Central Pacific, Sidney Dillon president Union Pacific, and members of a special committee of the Pacific Mail President J. B. Houston, and Henry Hart. Huntington (chairman) only went to say Dillon was fully a plaintiff in [illegible] on the subject of a new contract, and [illegible] would assent to any agreement that Dillon would approve. Henry Hart expressed his regret [illegible] representative of the Panama Railroad Co. [illegible], because he had been told, he said, to [illegible] in behalf of himself and some [illegible] he did not name either to lease the [illegible] or to lease the steamship line to that [illegible]. He added that as the Pacific Mail C[o.] [illegible] $10,000 a month without the assistance of overland railroad he should not consent to [illegible] of the subsidy formerly paid by the companies. Dillon then said that in view of the expression of Hart's opinion it was hardly necessary to prolong the meeting, for the railroad [illegible] would not pay the former subsidy. The [meeting] broke up abruptly and with evident lack of cordiality.

Trial of Gould's Crank

[illegible], Nov 15—Yesterday afternoon Welles was arraigned, accompanied by his counsel [illegible] Sullivan, and a number of letters written by him, which were carefully looked over by [illegible] and counsel Sullivan after which the [illegible] for postponement of the examination [illegible] that he had been retained late in the [day] and had not had time to prepare a defense. [illegible] he abhorred the crime of blackmail [illegible] was confident he could prove his client's [illegible] was prompted by the vagaries of insanity. [illegible] affidavit was then taken, and in it [illegible] believed Jay Gould's life was in danger [illegible] prisoner was at large, and he requested [illegible]. He also charged that the letters were [written] for the purpose of blackmail. The [case was] deferred until the 10th, Judge [illegible] the warden of the prison to treat his [prisoner] [illegible].

Big Billiard Match.

[illegible], Nov. 15—The first games of the great [illegible] billiard tournament for $1500 champion [of the] world and diamond emblem, given [illegible] of St Louis were played at [illegible] to-night. The hall was densely crowded. [illegible] between Sexton and Gallagher [illegible] a great favorite. Sexton led up to [illegible] Gallagher passed him and [illegible] the 58th inning when he finished [illegible] average 3 1-20. Sexton's highest run [illegible]. Total 160. In the second game [illegible] and Wallace the former was favor[ite] [illegible] winner of the game. He finished [illegible]. Schaefer a best run 28, average [illegible] run 22, average 2 19-40. Total 99

Distillers' Meeting.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—The distillers of this city, together with H. B. Miller of Illinois [illegible] of all Illinois distillers, held a session [this] afternoon in this city. H. B. Miller [was] president and Edward Stevens secretary. [It was] resolved to reduce the production to [illegible] capacity, and also agreed to [illegible] organization with an executive [committee] which shall have power to fix the amount [illegible] of each distillery. It was also agreed [illegible] for a fund to equalize, whereby [illegible] for feeding cattle may be made by [illegible] not able to reduce capacity, at [illegible]. A meeting for final organization [illegible] Thursday next at Chicago.

Busted as a Bullary.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—A clearinghouse committee [illegible] examine the Tradesman's National [Bank] [illegible] institution entirely sound

Cutting Rates.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—Freights eastward are being [illegible] trunk lines, and large shippers [illegible] their own rates. It is rumored [illegible] being taken as low as fifteen [cents].

Ben Butler as Boss.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—At the dictation of Ben Butler [illegible] nominated Albert Palmer for mayor.

Sharp Work.

[illegible] Nov. 15.—Four confederates robbed the [illegible] Bank of $6000 by completely [illegible] of the officials and employes [illegible] was being taken from a desk in the [bank].

A Pitiful Scene.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—The News' Dallas special [illegible] was found dead in a shanty to-day, [illegible] starvation. The husband was lying [illegible] small children half starved and [illegible] huddling around the dead mother.

Trial of a Train Robber.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—The trial of Steenagel, one of [illegible] continues in the superior court [illegible] next day will be consumed [illegible] the people. The interest in the [trial] [illegible] most all day and rains again.

WASHINGTON CITY.

MacVeagh and his Office.

[illegible], Nov. 15.—The Tribune's Washington [special says] MacVeagh has been absent from [his office for] three weeks, during which time [illegible] and their newspapers have [illegible] know that he had run from the [illegible] in spite of the president's most [illegible] remain, and they have waxed [illegible] the extraordinary spectacle. Mac[Veagh] [illegible] a contemptuous silence in the [illegible] now to say that when he [illegible] the president not only had knowl[edge] [illegible], but had pledged himself to [illegible] MacVeagh's successor on the next [illegible] tendered to Frelinghuysen who [illegible] alone is the reason why Mac[Veagh] [illegible] was not sooner accepted by the [president].

To be Tried Again.

[illegible] conspiracy case recently thrown [illegible] will be presented in the police [court] and the parties re-arrested. It [illegible] will waive examination and give [illegible] then go to the grand jury.

A New Route.

[illegible] special—It is rumored that [illegible] to be brought before congress in [illegible] subsidy in aid of a line of steamers [illegible] by Villard and others on the [illegible] connection with the Pacific Mail between [illegible] Panama and with the Pacific Naviga[tion] [illegible] Panama, Callao and Valpar[aiso].

Supreme Court Decisions.

[illegible], Nov. 14—Decision was rendered in [the] [illegible] of the U. S. to-day in the case of [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co., which settles [illegible] the law of guaranty that hitherto [has been subject] to controversy. This court holds [illegible] in consideration of one dollar t [illegible] executes and causes to be deliver[ed] [illegible] additional agreement to guaranty [illegible] a specified amount of C's present and [illegible] to said B, it is not necessary for [illegible] notify the guarantor A of his accept[ance] [illegible] of the agreement, or to keep the [illegible] from time to time of the amount of [illegible]. In the opinion of this court the [illegible] in question is not merely an offer [illegible] which to be valid must be for [illegible] by the party for whose benefit it is [illegible] the contrary, a completed contract [illegible] acknowledgement which it contains [illegible] guarantor of a valuable considera[tion] [illegible] to be rendered. Payment to the [illegible] stipulated consideration is sufficient [illegible] his agreement is accepted and he [illegible] itself stopped now from deny[ing] [illegible] consideration was received. The fact [illegible] was merely nominal makes no [difference] [illegible] stipulation in consideration of one [illegible] effectual as if the sum were larger [illegible] the obligation of guarantee to notify [illegible] default of a debtor this court holds [illegible] guarantor suffers loss or damage by [illegible] of guarantee to give him such no[tice] [illegible] is to that extent released, but both loss [illegible] of plaintiff, and loss of defendant must [illegible] constitute a defense. The judgment of [illegible] below in favor of Wells, Fargo & Co. is [affirmed].

[illegible] decision was also rendered by court [illegible] Francis H. Bartin vs John Barber [illegible] involving the liability of a receiver [illegible] of another state than that whose [illegible] "It is held that where the [illegible] has railroad or other property in [illegible] for administration as trustees and has ap[pointed] a receiver to aid it in the performance of its [illegible] carrying on the business for which the [illegible] adopted, a court of another state has no [illegible] to entertain suit against such receiver [illegible] action arising in the state in which he [illegible] and in which the property in his pos[session] [illegible] situated, and based on his negligence or [illegible] in the performance of their duty [illegible] to such property or for any service per[formed] [illegible] or material furnished the receiver in carry[ing on] [illegible] business. The judgment of the su[preme] court of the District of Columbia is affirmed. [illegible] court also rendered an opinion [illegible] importance to all railroads fast freight [illegible] shippers of goods. This case is a suit [illegible] by a St. Louis insurance company assignee [illegible] & Co., to recover the value of certain cotton [illegible] at St. Louis in 18[illegible] for Liverpool under [illegible] between Meir & Co and a fast freight [illegible] as the Erie and Pacific Dispatch. The [cotton] was shipped by dispatch over the Van[dalia] [illegible] thence over lines of the Pittsburg, Cin[cinnati] [illegible], St. Louis, Atlantic and Great Western [illegible] [illegible]. It was burned at Jersey City while [illegible] of the Erie railroad. The Vandalia line [illegible] a bill of lading but wybilled to [illegible] from St. Louis to Indianapolis and there [illegible] good order to the Pittsburg Cincinnati [illegible] company. The main question pres[ented] [illegible] is whether the Vandalia line was [illegible] for the safety of cotton after it was [illegible] carrier. Its liability was asserted [illegible] the property in question upon the [illegible] and other railroads [illegible] arrangement with [illegible] and Pacific Dispatch and with each [illegible] a through rate was established [illegible] route. Such arrangement it was [illegible] railway companies partners [illegible] this court does not declare [illegible] would or could not take the [illegible] [illegible] in the bill of lading given by [illegible] Dispatch to Meir & Co. [illegible] of decision that Meir [illegible] proof of any special terms [illegible] [illegible]. The court then held [illegible] decision which established a through rate [illegible] among themselves on the basis [illegible] each road bearing the expenses of its [illegible] transportation over its [illegible] make the roads partners or [illegible] by special contract to transport [illegible] their own lines. The Erie and [illegible] each is liable under its contract for the safety [illegible] on the whole route but each is liable [illegible] responsible only for its own negligence. The judgment of the circuit court is affirmed with costs.

Baptist Convention

[illegible] Dr Latterson [illegible] Baptist [illegible] Dr Hall [illegible] the Baptist churches of California [illegible] the next meeting [illegible] which will meet in the Metropolitan [illegible] May, 18[illegible]

San Francisco, Nov [illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—Lincoln post G. A. R. donated $[illegible] from its treasury for the soldiers' home. At a meeting last evening Garfield post donated the entire sum in its treasury to the same object and Geo. W. Thomas post will be heard from to-night, no doubt with a generous contribution.

The grand jury is still continuing investigations of the treasurer's office.

Officer Henry O. Angell who shot himself in the north end police station on Sunday night died last night at a quarter to ten o'clock from the effects of the injury. Deceased was a native of Ohio thirty-seven years of age, and had been connected with the police force for three years and five months.

A meeting of the clergy of the city and vicinity was held at Association hall this afternoon to concert measures for a better observance of the Sabbath and sustaining the Sunday law. Rev. Dr. Latterson of Brooklyn presided. The report of a committee appointed some weeks since was read recommending the call of a Sabbath convention and formation of a permanent Sabbath association. Rev. Dr. Williams, chairman of that committee, supported the recommendations in a brief speech. The subject was discussed at some length by a number of the clergy and others present. Pending discussion the meeting adjourned for two weeks.

A meeting of the board of supervisors was held this evening at which the question of granting railroad franchises was considered. A writ of prohibition was served in bond at the instance of Eugene P. Dewey and W. L. Dewey, owners of property on Brannan street, requiring the board to appear within thirty days and show cause why it should not be perpetually enjoined from granting franchise to the Bay Shore Railroad Co. The joint committee on streets and judiciary reported in favor of passing to print and granting a franchise to the San Francisco & Ocean Shore Railroad Company. The Ocean Shore Railroad application for a franchise was referred to the street and judiciary committees. An order granting the Bay Shore Railroad Company a franchise to skirt the water front was laid over until next meeting. An order granting the Southern and Central Pacific Railroad Companies right to extend their tracks on King street between Sixth and Seventh, was indefinitely postponed.

The Jury's Verdict.

SAN RAFAEL, Nov 15.—The verdict of the jury is that Mrs. Prince was killed by H. Osborn with an axe, cutting and smashing her head and that Osborn committed suicide with strychnine.

Earthquake.

SAN JOSE, Nov 15—About noon to-day a severe shock of earthquake was felt in this city. The oscillations were from north to south. The strangest part of the circumstance is that it was raining at the time, our earthquakes usually occurring in dry weather. At the Southern Pacific depot the shock was sufficient to upset a pile of grain in sacks.

A Doubtful Case.

SANTA CRUZ, Nov. 16.—This morning Mrs. Catherine, wife of W. H. Glenn, laundryman, died suddenly from a dose of cyanide of potassium but whether taken with suicidal intent or not is not stated.

Wrecked by a Land Slide.

GRASS VALLEY, Nov. 15—By a heavy slide in a deep cut on the line of the narrow gauge railroad near Colfax to-day an engine was slightly damaged and several freight cars ditched. Conductor Mendon hall and Engineer Craig were slightly bruised. There will be no through trains till to-morrow morning.

Heavy Rainfall.

A heavy rain started this morning and at 3 o'clock the fall for 12 hours was 2 5/8 inches.

Off the Track.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—A construction train with a party of laborers on the California Southern jumped the track near the summit of Soledad grade this morning. Some flat cars loaded with ties upset, falling on the men and instantly killing one and badly crushing five more, two of whom can hardly recover.

Spiteful Chinese.

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 15.—A gang of Chinese laborers, 19 in number, were discharged from Laggin & Carr's Belleview ranch yesterday. The foreman states he could get no work out of them, and therefore stopped work and told them to go to the office and receive their pay. They got their pay but before leaving set fire to a large building occupied by them which is a total loss. Up to the present time 13 of the Chinamen have been caught and are in jail. Officers are on the track of the others.

NEVADA.

Comstock Notes.

VIRGINIA, Nov. 14.—The space of ground separating the faces of the joint east and west drifts on the 2700 level of Sierra Nevada and Union Consolidated is now in about 240 feet. To make the connection will require some four weeks.

The savage folks are now shipping 25 car loads of ore per day. They will have at the mill 500 tons of ore when it starts up. The drift on the 2400 level has yet 115 feet to go to reach the foot of the incline. A survey made shows the original distance to be run was 33 feet further than was supposed.

THE P. R.

BUFFALO, Nov. 15.—A prize fight between Frank White and George Holden is announced for Wednesday at Long Point Canada, and is creating excitement. White accompanied by his brother and Billy Edwards passed through this city bounds on the way to the neighborhood of the ring. Holden it is understood goes from New York direct to Dunkirk.

No Fighting Allowed.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—The minister of justice has issued strict orders to the authorities of the county of Norfolk in which Long Point is a portion to stop the prize fight between Holden and White at all hazards. All are ordered to be in readiness.

MEXICO.

Mexican Railroad Matters.

CITY MEXICO, Nov. 14.—Congress has approved the transfer made by Gen. Frisbie of the Mexican Pacific Railway of the concession to the Yuma & Guaymas Railroad Company.

Officials of the government organ deny that the National Railroad must withdraw from Guadalajara on the route to the Pacific.

Storm at Mazatlan

Another storm at Mazatlan. Seven vessels anchored in the harbor were driven out to sea, two schooners beached and two rafts with petroleum destroyed. No lives lost.

BLOCKADED BY BUFFALOES.

A Northern Pacific Train Stopped by a Herd of Bison.

From the Bismarck (D. T.) Tribune.]

The passengers on last evening's train from the Yellowstone had an experience exceedingly rare. When about two miles from Sentinel Butte the dividing line between Montana and Dakota a herd of sixteen buffalo were seen a short distance ahead within easy range. There were several soldiers on board with army rifles and numerous small revolvers were also pointed toward the excited bison. A perfect volley of lead was poured into the herd but to no effect. They bounded away over the divide and were soon lost to sight. The passengers had no sooner begun the discussion of what they had seen than a danger signal from the locomotive brought every one to the front. A herd of twenty or thirty buffalo were making directly for the train and fearing the engine would strike them and be thrown from the track the air brake was set and the train brought nearly to a standstill while the buffalo crossed the track a few feet ahead. Every gun was again leveled. Such excitement can not be described. Bullets flew in every direction, some striking the ground as near as ten feet from the train, others raising the dust a mile distant. The train moved slowly and the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] away and the buffalo [illegible] [illegible]

THE GUITEAU TRIAL

Second Day's Proceedings. Robinson, Guiteau and Scoville Quarrelling over a Postponement of the Case

[illegible] Guiteau was hurried into the court room in custody of half a dozen deputies and a deputy marshal. His handcuffs were removed and he shook hands with his brother and sister and took the seat reserved for him between them and his counsel.

Scoville submitted affidavit and made application for an order for an attachment of witnesses, which order was made by the court. The additional panel of jurymen ordered last evening, was called, most of the persons responding when called. Guiteau manifested less nervousness and excitement than yesterday, although in his conversation with his brother he was quite demonstrative and nervous in his manner. Among those who reached the court was the first juror called. His answers showed him to be disqualified by [illegible] but the defense challenged him peremptorily, it being the fourth challenge.

Scoville, when Robinson filed the affidavits [illegible] this proceeding, said he objected to the proceeding. It is very remarkable indeed that an application of this kind should be made and that I should have had no previous notice of it and that I should not even be permitted to see the affidavit which has been presented to the court.

Robinson—There is no earthly objection to your seeing it.

Scoville—Very well. Wait a moment. This is an unprecedented proceeding. I shall withdraw from the case if defense is to proceed longer in this manner. I will give whatever information I have to counsel for defense and step out. I do not want to have this case continued and the prisoner does not want to have it continued. I don't want any further connection with the case unless when a motion is to be made I am advised of it long enough beforehand to know something about it. Unless the defense can go on harmoniously with me in it I will draw.

Guiteau again managed to get on his feet just as Scoville sat down and exclaimed with a motion of his clenched fist: "I endorse every word of that. I tell Robinson that if he does not do the thing just as I want it done he can get out of the case. That is short."

Robinson rose to address the court.

Guiteau—(petulantly)—I do not want to hear any more speeches of Robinson. I want him to get out of the case.

To the deputy marshals who were pulling him back in his seat he said: Let me alone. You have nothing to do with me here.

Robinson said he intended no disrespect to Scoville and continued, I know that what I have asked is indispensable. I will give the name of counsel as soon as I know that he can be assigned. I am sure that an assignment will strengthen the defense especially where it most needs strengthening.

Court—The trouble is that I have no assurance that at the expiration of the time mentioned this gentleman will go into the case.

Robinson—I give you my assurance that if ordered by court he will feel under obligations to accept the assignment.

Court—There is this much to be said about this application. The time first fixed for trial was a week sooner than the time asked by Scoville and when Robinson was assigned to the case he was not granted by a week the extension of time he asked so that the present application is not for any longer time than was originally asked by Robinson. I feel very much embarrassment as it is important that this trial should proceed without delay and I intend it shall proceed without unnecessary delay. I intend also that this prisoner shall have a fair trial, and that reproof shall not rest upon this court that the prisoner was sent to the gallows without a fair trial in order to appease public indignation. My inclination is to allow a week's time to Robinson which is the time originally asked by him. I shall assign counsel of whom he has spoken to assist him, leaving that counsel to make his arrangements to come into the case. If he cannot do so sooner than in two weeks time I do not think I should give any more indulgence than this, and I find embarrassment in giving that much.

Guiteau escaping control of the deputy marshals and getting to his feet: I do not want Robinson to act as my counsel.

Scoville rises and attempts to speak.

Guiteau persists in addressing the court and goes on: I want to say emphatically that Robinson came into this case without my consent. I knew nothing about him and do not like the way he talks. I ask him to peremptorily (pronouncing this word preemptorily) retire. I expect in some time to have money to employ any counsel that I please. I am not a beggar nor a pauper.

Guiteau being made to resume his seat, Scoville then again explained his position in the case and added, "Gen. Butler is the choice of the prisoner's relatives and of the prisoner himself. If the matter is so we can get such counsel as we want and we will be prepared with counsel who will be fit to cope with eminent counsel on the other side. We do not want the court to assign counsel we will employ counsel ourselves if the case be continued."

Scoville insisted he would not get into the case further until he knows the name of additional counsel.

Court—No counsel can come into the case without your consent.

Scoville—(resignedly)—Very well.

Guiteau again up—I say the same—(to the deputy marshals who were pulling him back) can you not mind your own business. I am in presence of court.

District Attorney—Then I understand it to be the decision of your honor that the trial shall now proceed.

Court—Yes, let the trial proceed and when testimony for prosecution is in I shall endeavor to give counsel for defense time to prepare their proofs.

GUITEAU AND HIS BROTHER

A Word Apropos of a new Suit of Clothes for the Assassin.

One of the letters lately received by Mr. Scoville, says the Washington Post is from Guiteau's brother who resides in Boston. It seems that Guiteau's relations were strongly opposed to the theory of insanity and when Mr. Scoville stated his intention to prove the prisoner insane, his sister residing in Freeport Ill., and the brother in Boston refused to assist in the defense in any way. Both thought that it would not only be a disgrace but a great injury to the family, if Guiteau was proven hereditarily insane. The letter now received however and the one written a few days since by the half sister show that both relatives have become convinced or are willing to acknowledge that their worthy brother is really insane. One result of the communication from Boston will probably be the purchase of a new wardrobe for the prisoner whose clothes have become greatly dilapidated from contact with the stone of the prison walls and other causes. Mason's bullet created great havoc with the assassin's coat tearing out nearly all the breast of it. The rents were patched up as well as possible under the circumstances by one of the jail guards but the garment was considered hardly presentable. At the time of his arraignment Guiteau's personal appearance was freely commented upon by the newspapers in anything but a complimentary manner and the remarks about his clothes he felt very keenly. He asked his brother in law to buy him a new suit but Mr. Scoville did not think he could spare the money and as no one else had offered even a second hand suit it seemed quite likely that the assassin would go to trial looking more like a beggar than a whilom gentleman. Now however the Boston brother has become reconciled to the insanity theory and as he is able to offer some financial assistance Guiteau will probably come into court looking something as he did in the palmy days when he beat boarding houses and courted society.

Can't Prove it by him

It having come to the ears of Mr. J. H. Noyes, the leader of the Oneida community, that he was to be called as a witness to prove the insanity of Guiteau, the assassin, he addressed a letter to Mr. Scoville in the course of which he expressed himself as follows:

I do not believe in his insanity and I recollect no act or symptom of insanity in his life while under my observation. I think that he was born with a special genius for mischief and has had a real inspiration for it all his days but that is not saying he is insane unless we also call natural genius and inspiration for good things such as in [illegible] [illegible]. I understand insanity to be unsoundness—disease of the brain and I do not think Guiteau has that any more than liars and thieves have it. With these views and the memory of my sore experience with your client I am afraid I shall have to testify strongly against your insanity plea and perhaps should be the means of sending him to the gallows.

Synod resumed and was opened with prayer by [illegible]

A paper, The Origin of Mormonism, was then read as follows:

THE ORIGIN OF MORMONISM

(By Mrs. Dr. Horace Eaton of Palmyra, N. Y.)

Dear Sisters: A little less than three hours on the New York Central due east will bring you to the town of Palmyra in the vicinity of which the system of Mormonism was initiated. In this town it has been my privilege to reside for the last thirty-two years. I speak to you from credible testimony. Western New York has strong soil and rank weeds are incidental to strong soil. We must own the deceivers. They went out from us, but they were not of us. They received were elsewhere.

As far as Mormonism was connected with its reputed founder Joseph, always called "Joe Smith," it had its origin in the brain and heart of an ignorant and crafty [illegible]. Joe Smith's mother moved in the lowest walks of life but she had a kind of mental power which her son shared. With them both the imagination was the commanding faculty. It was vain but vivid. To it was subsidized reason, conscience, truth. Both mother and son were noted for a habit of extravagant assertion. They would look a listener full in the eye and without confusion or blanching would fluently improvise startling statements and exciting stories the warp and woof of which were alike sheer falsehood. Was an inconsistency alluded to nothing daunted a subterfuge was always at hand. As one old man who knew them well said to me, "You couldn't face them down. They'd lie and stick to it." Many of the noblest specimens of humanity have arisen from a condition of honest poverty, but few of these from one of dishonest poverty. Agur apprehended the danger when he said "lest I be poor and steal." Mrs. Smith used to go to the houses of the village and do family washings. But if the articles were left to dry upon the lines and not secured by their owners before midnight the washer was often the winner—and in these nocturnal depredations she was assisted by her boys, who favored in like manner poultry yards and grain bins. Her son Joe never worked save at chopping bees and raisings, and then whisky was the impetus and the reward. The mother of the high priest of Mormonism was superstitious to the last degree. The very air she breathed was inhabited by familiar spirits that peeped and wizards that muttered. She turned many a penny by tracing in the lines of the open palm the fortunes of the inquirer. All ominous signs were heeded. No work was commenced on Friday. The moon over the left shoulder portended calamity, the breaking of a mirror death. Even in the old Green Mountain state, before the family immigrated to the Genesee country, the thence west, Mrs. Smith's mind was made up that one of her sons should be a prophet. The weak father agreed with her that Joseph was the "genius" of their nine children. So it was established that Joseph should be the prophet. To such an extent did the mother impress this idea upon the boy, that all the instincts of childhood were restrained. He rarely smiled or laughed. "His looks and thoughts were always downward bent." He never indulged in demonstrations of fun since they would not be in keeping with the profound dignity of his allotted vocation. His mother inspired and aided him in every scheme of duplicity and cunning. All acquainted with the facts agree in saying that the evil spirit of Mormonism dwelt first in Joe Smith's mother.

Bad books had much to do with the origin of Mormonism. Joe Smith could read. He could not write. His two standard volumes were "The Life of Stephen Burroughs," the clerical scoundrel, and the autobiography of Captain Kidd, the pirate. This latter work was largely and often perused. There was a fascination to him in the charmed lines:

"My name was Robert Kidd,
As I sailed, as I sailed,
And most wickedly I did,
And God's laws I did forbid,
As I sailed as I sailed."

At the early age of fifteen, while watching his father digging a well, Joe espied a stone of curious shape. It must have borne resemblance to the stone foot of Buddha which Mrs. House tells us of in Bankok, Siam. All the difference this was smaller, like a child's foot. At any rate it has left footprints on the sands of time. This little stone was the acorn of the Mormon oak. This was the famous Palmyra seer or "peek stone" with which Joe Smith did most certainly divine. Being before instructed of his mother, he immediately set up a claim to miraculous power. In a kneeling posture with a bandage over his eyes so luminous was the sight without it, with the stone in a large white stove pipe hat and the hat in front of his face he saw things unutterably wonderful. He could reveal full too well the place where stolen property or wandering flocks could be found. Caskets of gold stored away by the Spaniards, or by his hero, the redoubtable Captain Kidd, coffers of gems oriental treasures the "wealth of Ormus and of Ind," gleamed beneath the ground of adjacent fields and woodlands. Digging became the order of the night and sleep that of the day. Fathers and brothers decayed neighbors all who could be hired with cider or strong drink were organized into a digging phalanx. They sallied forth in the darkness. Solemn ceremonies prefaced the work. Not a sod was disturbed by the spades till Joe's mystic wand the witch hazel, guided by the sacred stone, pointed out the golden somewhere. Entire silence was one condition of success. When hours passed and the answering thud on the priceless treasure was about to strike the ear some one, in a rapture of expectancy, always broke the spell by speaking the riches were spirited away to another quarter and the digging must be resumed another night. Thus matters went on for seven or eight years. Little or no attention was paid to the performances of Smith near his home. Lovers of the marvelous from other towns now and then came in to see and hear some new thing. People from greater distances visited the several excavations and wondered. Newspapers heralded and ridiculed. But so much interest had been created a certain [illegible] atmosphere heavy with myth and mystery [illegible] future developments.

The perseverance of Joe Smith was equal to his frauds. Both were boundless. But he alone could never have wrought out the institution of Mormonism. Here we have black spirits red spirits and gray. Early in the summer of 18[illegible] a mysterious stranger seeks admittance to Joe Smith's cabin. The conferences of the two are secret and private. This person whose coming immediately preceded a new departure in the faith was Sidney Rigdon, a backsliding clergyman, at that time a Campbellite preacher in Mentor, Ohio. Now we have a literary genius behind the screen. Rigdon was versatile in his gifts, had a taste for the logical and scientific discussion, was shrewd, wily, deep and withal utterly unprincipled. Soon after his appearance on the stage Mormonism begins to assume a local habitation and a name. Now the angel talks more definitely to Smith, tells him all his sins are pardoned, that one of the sects are accepted of God as his church but that he shall establish one the Almighty will own, that the North American Indians are a remnant of Israel, that hidden beneath the ground are their inspired writings that these are to be intrusted to him, and to him only as none other [illegible] see them and live. In the stillness of night Smith seeks alone his hill top of Cumorah, an eminence four miles south of Palmyra on the north of Canandaigua. Confronted by the very prototypes of Ilinto he averred that he obtained from that place a series of golden plates on which were written in hieroglyphics the records so important in the new dispensation. Accompanying the plates is a pair of huge spectacles the Urim and Thummim, by the aid of which the tablets are to be made available. He soon finds it convenient to visit relatives in Pennsylvania in which state Rigdon was then sojourning. After a while he returns with an accurate translation. He appeals to the cupidity of a rich farmer, a semi-maniac, and prevails upon him to mortgage his estate to pay for the printing. Here is a copy taken off in sheets from the first edition kindly loaned me by Major John Gilbert of Palmyra, the venerable printer who published the work in 1830.

But who wrote the book? Surely not Smith or Rigdon. We will go back to the time when Joe Smith lay in his cradle in Sharon, Vt. In 1809 a congregational minister Rev. Solomon Spaulding, a graduate of Dartmouth college, left his native state of Vermont, sojourned awhile in ours and then sought the more genial climate of Conneaut, Ashtabula county, Ohio. He was obliged by the state of his health to abandon preaching. The cast of his mind was peculiar. He then diverted himself by writing romances on different subjects. The mounds [illegible] Ohio then attracted much attention. Mr. Spaulding was a direct interested in [illegible] [illegible]

TERRITORIAL MATTERS.

A Review of Recent Legislative Doings.

OUR CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW OF THE DEFEATED PILOT BILL

List of Measures Past and Pending. The Woman Suffrage Question. The Small Pox Scare, etc., etc.

[illegible]

A the legislative assembly has [illegible] [illegible] I shall have to refer again to the interesting question.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

In my communication on this subject in reference to the action of the council I casually remarked that wing to the [illegible] zealous efforts of the friends of the bill it was defeated. Owing to the haste with which my letter had to be prepared I did not sufficiently dwell on the subject and the result is that some of your readers have taken it into their heads that I referred to Mrs. A. S. Duniway, the able champion of woman's rights. But in this I need only say that they are completely at fault. Mrs. Duniway by her long experience has shown legislative assemblies and [illegible] important [illegible] that she not only works in the right direction but that she knows how to work also. But I regret to say that others do not work in this way. The plan of threatening, instead of coaxing, those who have the power to do or undo is not the best at any time, neither has it done any good in the present case, which is to be regretted. It is I believe generally conceded that Mrs. Duniway showed a most amiable disposition throughout the entire action on this bill, neither being too highly elated over its passage in the lower house, nor depressed by its defeat in the council. Therefore in her generous efforts to obtain the liberty and equality of her sex she has shown herself a true woman and an able advocate of the cause.

From what I can learn the great question of woman suffrage will soon be brought up again in such a shape that the legislative assembly will hardly fail to vote to it and by this means they will not only enact a just law but will make for themselves a most enviable record in the future history of this territory.

BILLS APPROVED

Since my last report on this subject the following bills, resolutions and memorials have been approved by the governor:

For relief of Oregon school for deaf mutes.

To prevent the spread of contagious diseases.

Relating to justices of the peace.

To amend the justices' practice act relative to writs of attachment.

To change the name of Emma Booth a Foster to Emma S. White.

For relief of Payne Bros., Walla Walla.

Appropriating money for expenses incurred by legislative assembly in visiting territorial buildings.

Authorizing the chairman of legislative investigating committee to administer oaths.

Relief of B. W. L. Allen.

To amend an act establishing district courts in the first and second judicial districts.

To incorporate the city of Dayton.

To repeal an act creating the office of fish commissioner for Columbia river.

In relation to quarantine of vessels.

To prevent the spread of Chinese and Canadian thistles.

Relating to city and town plats.

Amending act relative to certain animals running at large.

Authorizing Quincy street wharf company to construct a wharf at Port Townsend.

Authorizing county commissioners of several counties to appropriate money for improvement of roads and bridges.

Amending probate practice act.

Amending act relating to the cultivation of oysters.

Relating to notaries.

Providing against the spread of contagious diseases in Pacific county.

Memorial praying for the clearing of Cathlapoodle river.

Memorial asking for increased mail facilities in Alaska.

Resolution authorizing the supreme court to hold sessions in the capitol building.

Memorial asking for removal of obstructions from rivers emptying into Puget Sound.

Resolution relative to postage.

To confer city government on New Tacoma.

To repeal an act prohibiting hogs and sheep from running at large in Pacific county.

PILOT LAW

One of the most important and unobjectionable laws introduced during the session was house bill No. 1—An act to establish pilots and pilot regulations for Juan de Fuca Straits, &c., by Mr. Kuhn of Jefferson, and without the slightest difficulty it passed the lower house, but I regret to say that when it reached the council it met with a very different reception, the adoption of the adverse report of the committee defeating it most ignominiously on the 8th inst. What objection could possibly be urged against its passage I have no means of learning, but that it is legislation which will seriously affect the prosperity of Puget Sound and drive commerce from our shores seems to be a foregone conclusion. The law now in force, which was passed many years ago, is of little if any effect, and I believe a move is being made to repeal it, and if that succeeds then we are without a pilot law of any description. It is to be sincerely regretted that the representatives of the people fail to give due consideration to such important measures as this, and its unfortunate results will only be realized when it is too late, after valuable ships are lost, valuable lives destroyed, and valuable property gone to the bottom of the ocean. It is to be hoped that another bill may be presented on this subject before the legislature adjourns, and that the legislative assembly may give it the careful consideration which such a life saving measure deserves.

DISTRICT COURTS

By the passage and approval of council bill No. 89, the following dates are designated for the holding of terms of court in the first and second judicial districts:

Lewis county, the second Monday in January.

Vancouver, first Mondays in April and November.

Kalama, fourth Mondays in April and November.

Cathlamet, third Mondays in May and first Monday in October.

Yakima, first Tuesday after fourth Monday in May, and first Tuesday after second Monday in October.

Olympia, second Mondays in June and December.

Pacific, second Monday in August.

RELIEF FOR LOGGERS

As Puget Sound is celebrated for the number and extent of its logging camps I think that the provisions of H. B. No. 92, providing for the inspection and measurement of logs, will be perused with interest by all our loggers.

Sec. 1. That section [illegible] of an act entitled an act [illegible] approved November 11, 1879, be amended so as to read:

Sec. 10. All logs shall be scaled at the place where they are boomed or rafted, ready for towing, and [illegible] per cent of all fees received by the scaler or his deputy for scaling logs shall be paid into the treasury of the county where said logs were cut for the benefit of such county within one month after the said logs were scaled.

Sec. 2. That the act of which this is amendatory be further amended by adding after section 15 the following section, 15 and 16:

Sec. 15. Any person, firm or corporation who shall remove any saw logs from the county where the same were boomed or rafted ready for towing, until the same shall have been scaled as provided by this act and the act of which this is amendatory, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $2,000 nor less than $500, to be recovered in an action in the name of the territory in the district court having jurisdiction in the county where said logs were cut or rafted or boomed.

Sec. 16. One fourth part of all fines recovered under the provisions of this act and the act of which this is amendatory shall be paid to the parties instituting the proceedings, one-fourth to the county in which the logs were cut and one half to the territory: Provided, That Pacific county shall be exempt from the provisions of this act.

The bill has already passed the house by a vote of 19 ayes to 5 noes and is now before the council, for their action of which I shall notify you in due time.

MARK OF APPRECIATION

Your correspondent wishing to show his appreciation of the many acts of kindness conferred by the members and officers of both houses had a card printed containing a record of the entire legislative assembly, a card copy of which was furnished to each of its members, whereupon the council unanimously adopted a vote of thanks, and the following resolution was at the same time unanimously adopted by the house and placed on the records:

Whereas, W. H. Roberts, special correspondent of THE OREGONIAN, has kindly furnished each member of this house with a tabulated statement of the personnel of the present legislative assembly, therefore Resolved, That the house hereby extends a vote of thanks to Mr. Roberts for his kindness.

As this is the first occasion on which any correspondent of THE OREGONIAN has been publicly thanked by the legislative assembly of Washington territory I take pleasure in referring to it, not only as a matter of courtesy but also to show my appreciation of the good feeling evinced towards me as your correspondent.

SMALL POX

[illegible] [illegible] the smallpox has been [illegible] [illegible]. It is to be regretted that it was not found before as there it might probably have saved many lives. It is reported that there are seven cases in Centerville on the line of the N. P. R. R. However, it is said they are closely quarantined.

Up to the present the epidemic has not visited this place and probably it the instructions [illegible] by the town council are implicitly obeyed [illegible] guard stationed at every approach to the town [illegible] epidemic may escape but it will take every possible effort on their part to prevent its inroad.

[illegible] I might mention that [illegible] [illegible] the council has been confined to his [room] for several days from the effects of a cold. Some of the members who have been visiting the Insane asylum and the penitentiary have returned. There and will probably be ready for [illegible] about [illegible].

CONVICTS

A bill has been introduced authorizing the governor to purchase suitable shackles for the several convicts for a sum not to exceed $300. As this amount will not be sufficient, it will be probably advisable to amend by making the amount $500 and it will take every cent of it.

Nothing has been done yet regarding the school law, the hospital for insane, carrying concealed weapons and various other important measures, which will all probably be attended to in good time.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

GARFIELD'S WORDS. Suggestive passages from the public and private writings of James Abram Garfield. Compiled by William R. Balch. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. 18mo, pp 184. Price, $[illegible]. For sale by A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco.

This is the first of the several works which will doubtless be issued relating to the literary and other labors of the late president. It opens with a comprehensive memoir of his life which is followed by extracts from his public and private writings, arranged under proper headings and carefully indexed. For a man so much immersed in the study of men and immediate politics and in the questions of the day he was wonderfully alive to the great thoughts of the past. This volume shows the range of his reading and the habit he had of digesting what he read. He loved books. He found the [illegible] the classics and joy in the study of them. The reader will probably read with surprise, not being aware of their existence, the clever, philosophical, manly and patriotic sayings that are printed in this work. It is indeed remarkable how thickly his speeches and letters are studded with jewels of utterance.

ISMS OLD AND NEW. By the Rev. Geo. C. Lorimer. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co. 12mo, pp 367. Price $1 50. For sale by J. K. Gill & Co., Portland.

There are times when it is the duty of the pulpit to confront and challenge the insidious errors which unsettle the public mind to receive attentively and [illegible] its expositions. Exegesis, however quaint and elaborate, will be as powerless as the learned interpretations of dusty Egyptian hieroglyphics, if confidence is seriously impaired in the Divine origin of the Book whose teachings it seeks to unfold. The conviction that he must do in short the confidence of the unconverted of his own revelation in certain prevailing errors led the author, the pastor of the First Baptist church of Chicago, to prepare and deliver these sermons on the Sunday evenings of last winter. "While not attempting [illegible] exhaustive treatment of the isms, he has tried to point out their startling dissonances, their thought-circling darkness, and their comfortless, hopeless, soul-freezing tendencies, and he has tried to help his readers to grasp more deeply and feel more intensely those essential doctrines of religion that meet the necessities of our spiritual life, and to [illegible] the ideal poles coincide with the axis of our revolving world." The isms he combats form a long list, and embrace agnosticism, atheism, pantheism, materialism, naturalism, pessimism, Buddhism, Unitarianism, Spiritualism, skepticism, liberalism, formalism, denominationalism, mammonism, pauperism, and Altruism.

BIRDS A-WING, and other Poems. By Mary J. McColl. Samuel Carson, San Francisco. For sale by J. K. Gill & Co., Portland.

In several of the poems of this little collection there is an ease of expression and delicacy of sentiment that every reader will recognize. The tone of most of the poems is that of chastened sorrow, which will find a responsive feeling in many minds.

LYRICS OF HOME-LAND. By Eugene J. Hall. Elegantly Illustrated. Chicago: S. C. Griggs & Co. For sale by J. K. Gill & Co., Portland.

Mr. Hall is a facile verse-writer. His poetry has a natural ring to it, his measures run along smoothly, and his favorite themes, like Will Carleton's, are taken from the most homely subjects. As for instance, to quote some of the titles: "The Highway Cow," "Peleg Stow," "Farmer Brown's Dream," "The Old Garret," "The Old Farm Gate," "The Old Stone Mill," "Going for the Cows," "Two Lovers," "Empty Stockin's," "Crows in the Corn," "The Achin' Back," "The Second Wife," "Song of the Woodchopper," and the like. Mr. Hall's muse is versatile and unconventional, he rhymes easily and pleasantly, his poems come home to the people's hearts, if they are not entitled to rank with the best poetry, or if the thought back of the lines is commonplace and the treatment not especially lively.

NOTES

Malaria: what it means and how avoided, by Joseph F. Edwards, M. D., is one of the volumes of a series of most useful "health primers," published by Presley Blakiston, Philadelphia. The writer shows that of all affections about which public misapprehension is very great, malaria is entitled to the highest rank and that the public notion that quinine is a specific for the disease in all its forms has caused the unintelligent use of quinine. The several chapters of this book will be found of value to all readers. Price 75 cents.

The Franklin Square Song collection, published by Harper & Bros., exhibits a variety and a uniform excellence not easily attained. Hymns, Lullabies, National Airs, Christmas Carols, School Songs—all are here, and all are the best of their kind. The notes and paragraphs appended aggregate fifty pages of appropriate history, description and sentiment, selected from standard authors. It is the best and cheapest collection of general popular music to be had.

The manual of railroads for 1881, by Henry V. Poor contains an immense amount of valuable information. Besides the ordinary railway statistics for each state, there is a lengthy introduction discussing several phases of the railroad question and showing by comprehensive statements the regular and rapid increase of mileage, the comparative charges and earnings of the roads, and all other facts which those interested are likely to be in search of.

This Company is among the oldest and strongest companies in the world. Its organization dates back to 1824. Of the ninety-five companies doing business on this coast, and the 160 reporting to the New York insurance department, in point of paid up capital it ranks No. 9, while in point of assets it ranks No. 6. Adding its subscribed capital, subject to call, amounting to over $20,000,000, which, under the stringent laws of Great Britain governing unpaid capital, as fully illustrated in the failure of the Glasgow Bank, is available to the last dollar for its liabilities, it stands at the head of all the companies doing business in America; making in all, in actual resources, $33,707,890.58, and every policy issued pledges on its face, and in its contract binds its actual fire assets, every dollar of its authorized and subscribed capital of $30,000,000 to the payment of its fire losses.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1881.

A CIVIL SERVICE BILL.

The bill for the regulation of the civil service, which Senator Pendleton has perfected and which he will press at the approaching session of congress, proposes to lay the ground for proper administration of the subordinate civil service of the United States by authorizing the president to designate and employ five persons, not more than three of whom shall be adherents of the same party, to act as a commission, three of whom shall hold no other office, while the other two shall be experienced officers in the public service at Washington, but not in the same department. It is to be the duty of this commission to devise and submit to the president for his approval and promulgation suitable rules to carry out certain objects in relation to the service, which may be briefly defined as follows: First, for open competitive examinations for testing the capacity of applicants for positions in the public service. Second, that all the offices, places and employments shall be arranged or classified, and shall be filled by selections from among those graded highest in such competitive examinations. Third, that original entrance to the public service shall be at the lowest grade. Fourth, that a period of probation shall be required before any absolute appointment or employment. Fifth, that promotions shall be from the lower grades to the higher on the basis of merit and competition. Sixth, that no person in the public service shall for that reason be under any obligation to contribute to any political fund or to render any political service. Seventh, that no person in the service shall have the right to use his official authority to influence or coerce the political action of any person or body. Eighth, there shall be non-competitive examinations in all proper cases when competition may not be found practicable. The commission is to be required to make annual reports to the president for transmission to congress. It may sit at Washington or in any other city of the United States, and may designate and select a suitable number of persons to be members of boards of examination, wherever needed, to carry out the intent of the act. No person is to be admitted into the subordinate civil service of the government except through the methods hereby provided.

Of course these rules will not apply to officials appointed by the president with the advice and consent of the senate. The constitution fixes the mode of making appointments of this class. The rules proposed are intended to regulate the appointment of the large number of subordinate officials in all branches of the public service, and to protect and govern them while in such employment. To accomplish this properly and effectually would be to remove at once half the abuses of our political and official system. This first great and necessary step is to show the large numbers of persons under employment by the government that the object of their employment is not politics and party, but the transaction of the public business. The plan proposed would do much to wrest the public service from the hands of politicians who are accustomed to employ it for party ends and their own advancement. It is true enough that this plan would not be found a perfect one. Regeneration of our debauched civil service is not to be expected in a day. Competitive examinations, too, are undoubtedly open to some objections. But it is not pretended that such examinations will demonstrate the absolute fitness even of the candidates who may pass them. It is certain, however, that persons who have made some progress in culture, who know something of literature and science, who can prove that they possess information and intelligence, are better fitted for employments in the public service than persons who have no attainments; and hence the competitive system affords a better test of qualifications than is furnished by "recommendations" from self-seeking politicians of the boss and machine system, who want the public service stuffed full of men whose first test of fitness is ability and willingness to render the boss such political assistance as he may require. Mr. Pendleton's bill, or some similar one, ought to be enacted into a law. How many times have senators, acting the part of politicians and striving to build up or sustain their own personal rule, insisted on controlling all the offices and officials in their respective states, holding that they, by virtue of their position as senators and their usurped political leadership, were entitled to the personal service and active support of every man in public employment? This abuse has been a common thing in Oregon and in almost every other state.

A GOOD TIME TO PAY.

Since the close of the great war we have paid more than one thousand million dollars of the principal of our national debt. The interest paid on the debt during this period aggregates more than double this sum. But so considerable reduction of the interest charge has now been effected that the principal can easily be paid at a faster rate than ever. A national debt is no more a national blessing than is an individual debt an individual blessing. Common sense would say that the best time to pay a private debt is when one is making the most, when with the least inconvenience a certain amount for this purpose can be taken from every day earnings. National affairs do not differ materially from individual concerns. Taxation is a certain amount taken from our gross earnings to pay debts we have contracted for national expenditures. The question is debated whether we should continue paying the national debt at a rapid rate, or reduce the payments and carry the debt over to the future. We believe the best policy is to go on with the payments, at least until the debt is reduced by as much more as it has been reduced hitherto.

Our national debt now amounts in round numbers to $1,750,000,000. Last month we paid of this principal $13,000,000. Had it not been for pensions in arrears, etc., this amount paid would have been increased some $2,000,000 more, making the total decrease $15,000,000. At this rate we could pay our whole debt in ten years. In this peculiar world of ours we always have men who will not let well enough alone; they must be seeking change or their restless minds would wear out their bodies. Now some think we are paying our debt too fast, and that we are really doing the citizens of the next century an evil in not bequeathing them our encumbrances. Hence comes the demand, quit taxing and let the debt stand. But fortunately the people, wiser in their intuitions than philosophers with their logic, are not seriously concerning themselves about this demand—if they make any expression whatever it is to let matters alone.

The country is now prosperous as a whole; its industries are not idle and the harvests have been good. Our garners are open for the supplying of the world. Hence we are able to pay taxes. We pay willingly because we feel little deprivation. If there is any logic in finances at all it is to pay when you are able—lessen the drain on your resources when poor. Then, too, changes when not needed are always hurtful. An upsetting of existing conditions must work ill until the new arrangement accommodates itself to circumstances. To take away all internal taxation and provide in some other way for a necessary revenue must for a time destroy industrial equilibrium. No man can tell the remote effects of a law. It is often easy to create immediate effects by legal enactments but human eyes cannot see incidental results of legal provisions. On this account, so long as the present tax is not burdensome and possibly quite as equitable as any, save what is impossible, an absolutely direct tax, we had better rest content, than rush into experiments the result of which we know not. If panics strike us we can easily lessen taxation to meet the requirements of decreased earnings, but so long as we are prosperous, let us pay as we go and not bother with experiments.

New York wholesale dealers say they are receiving large numbers of letters from country merchants in the west, in which they declare that they will order no more goods through drummers, will, in fact, make no purchases from houses who employ drummers. The complaint is that these traveling salesmen assume to know more about a country merchant's business than the merchant himself. The wholesale dealers also have a grievance against drummers, or middlemen, who often set up for themselves or as partners in a rival house and carry their trade with them, the country merchant being acquainted with the traveling salesman, not with the proprietors of the house with which he deals. Several wholesale firms have, therefore, about concluded to dispense with drummers and deal directly with their western customers. Possibly they may succeed. But more than likely both wholesale and retail men will, after a year's experience, come to the conclusion that, like many other adjuncts of modern commerce and civilization, the drummer is a "necessary evil."

Speaking of the retirement of Henry Ward Beecher from the editorial chair of the Christian Union, the Philadelphia Press says that the real reputation of the paper was made by the men who did good newspaper work — men who were trained to the business. "No figure-head," says the Press, "can take the place of a cutwater, and a man—though his talents be as extraordinary and wide-reaching as those of Mr. Beecher—can no more edit a paper with his left hand, while his right is at some other job, than he can carry on some other work requiring trained skill and unremitting attention, and any man who attempts this is sure soon or late to give it up as a bad job."

It is gratifying to note that steps are being taken to make the Portland board of trade a more numerous and efficient body. Its membership heretofore has been too small. Few of the whole number doing business in the city have belonged to the board or paid any attention to its proceedings. But the large number of new applications for membership, indicated by the list published yesterday, shows that the board is now to receive an accession which will encrease its vigor and efficiency and make it a much more important agent than hitherto in the promotion of the commercial interests of the city and state.

The New York Sun is not at all unwilling that President Arthur should give days and nights to consultations with General Grant, for from General Grant President Arthur can learn nearly everything that a president ought not to do. However, it is altogether probable that the general's advice is more in the direction of things to be done than the leaving of things undone.

Dr. Benjamin Franklin Bache, grandson of Benjamin Franklin and an officer in the United States navy for sixty years died at Brooklyn on the 2d November. He was son of Richard Bache of Philadelphia, a merchant of high standing, and Sarah, only daughter of Benjamin Franklin. He lived to the age of nearly eighty-one years.

The potato crop of the eastern states is short this year. Potatoes from Ireland are now being sold in large quantities in New York.

THE AVERILL MIXED PAINT,

Beauty, Durability and Economy Combined

The attention of consumers is called to the superior quality of the AVERILL MIXED PAINTS, which have been used for twenty years with great satisfaction, and for the following reasons: Its DURABILITY is acknowledged superior to any other paint. Its BEAUTY and BRILLIANCY of finish are incomparable, even leading many to believe that varnish is employed in its manufacture. It can be washed or scrubbed without damage, retaining its original lustre —fire-proof to a high degree. Its convenience commends it to all—ready for use; any man, woman or child can use it.

CITY.

FOUND FALL.—Early yesterday morning Officer ... found a man lying on the lower dock at the foot of Washington street. He appeared to be under the influence of liquor and was taken to the city jail. Upon examination it was found that he was very seriously injured. His knees were so badly swollen that his pants had to be ripped to get them off, and his face was battered, both eyes being bruised and almost closed. He was only semi-conscious, unable to give any account of what had happened, of his identity, or where he lived. It is supposed that he fell from the upper dock, and it is possible that he was robbed and then thrown down. He had no papers on his person by which to be identified and no money. A physician who was called, after making a hasty examination, thought his left hip was dislocated and that he was suffering from concussion of the spine. He was sent to St. Vincent's hospital. He was a young man, possibly 30 years of age, light complexion, with light hair and moustache, about five feet seven inches high, and weighing about 150 pounds. Late last night Dr. Rex made a thorough examination, but found no bones broken. He thinks there was concussion of the brain and that the young man's condition is critical.

DROPPED DEAD.—Yesterday evening about half-past six George S. Underwood, a carpenter, dropped dead in the office of the Richmond House, where he was stopping. He came in after finishing work for the day and complained of feeling weak and exhausted, and a few moments afterward, in walking toward the wash room, fell to the floor and almost immediately expired. Dr. Edwards, who was called, said his death was caused by heart disease. Underwood has been living on a farm on Lewis river near La Center, W. T., where he has a family. He came about a week ago with a stepson to work at his trade in Portland. He was fifty-six years old and a Mexican veteran, having come to California with Col. Stevenson's regiment in 1847. The coroner was notified, but the cause of his death was so apparent that no inquest was held. The remains will be taken to La Center to-day for burial.

Later.—At midnight, Coroner Garnold concluded an inquest, which resulted in a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

HEAVY SUIT.—Yesterday afternoon suit was commenced in the state circuit court by the St. Paul Harvester Works of St. Paul, Minn., against E. A. Hawley and C. H. Dodd, of the old firm of Hawley, Dodd & Co., for a settlement of account and a balance of $3597 50. The plaintiffs allege that this amount is due for reapers sold to the firm in 1877 ... Mr. C. H. Dodd stated to an OREGONIAN reporter that they had settled the account long ago; that the binding attachments sold to farmers had proved unsatisfactory, were returned and the money refunded, and that the implements had been received back by the manufacturers from Hawley, Dodd & Co.

ROBBERY AT CANBY.—The Canby hotel, owned by ... Knight, was entered one day last week and ... in coin. The money was taken from the proprietor's bedroom, where it had been placed for security. An Englishman, a farm hand, who had been working about the place, was at once suspected of the robbery and was closely watched. He was seen to come out of a woodshed late that night, and on being searched the missing money was found in his pocket. He acknowledged the theft, and was arrested.

A BOISTEROUS SAILOR.—Last night a jolly tar named ... Thompson, who had imbibed freely, thought he would have a "time" by waking up the "bobbies," as he called them. He secured a shrill whistle, and walking up Second street, blew it at every corner. When he reached Taylor he had seven policemen, breathless and excited, at his heels, and he was not in the least pleased with the episode. He is now sobering off in one of Chief Lappeus' apartments in the big room.

INJURED.—About two weeks since, Capt. Ed. J. ..., of this city, who recently became a pilot on the ... river, in going over the bar on a tug, was thrown violently against the stove by a sudden lurch of the vessel, striking so hard as to cut a gash ... He has been attending to his duties ever since, paying but little attention to the wound, which is now quite serious. His physician ordered him to his bed, and it is feared the limb will have to be amputated.

A CONCERT.—Miss Belle DuBois, who is one of the most accomplished vocalists in this city, will start within a few days for the East to pursue her musical studies, preparatory to going upon the stage. To-morrow night she will give a farewell concert, assisted by Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph and other amateurs, whose names appear in the programme on another page. The ... will open at 9 o'clock to-...

SMALLPOX.—Yesterday two cases of smallpox appeared: a gentleman from Heppner, who was taken to the smallpox hospital on the Cornell road, and the other a three-year-old child of Mr. ..., of New Tacoma, who is ill at the residence of the child's mother, Mrs. Sutton, southwest corner of Tenth and Morrison streets. Both houses are quarantined. Every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

WALLA WALLA MAILS.—On account of the smallpox beyond Walla Walla, points between that city and Dayton will not receive, and ... until travel is resumed. Capt. B. ..., of the railway service, has arranged to have mails for Colfax and Lewiston carried by the ... road via Marshall on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, and via Sprague Tuesdays ...

EAST PORTLAND.—The committee on streets and public ways yesterday let contracts for the improvement of East Park street, in front of blocks 111, 112, 113 and 114. The first two blocks were let to James Johnson, and the last four to M. .... The price was fifteen cents per cubic yard for grading, ... cents for fills, thirty-four cents per running foot for new sidewalk, and thirty cents ...

OLD FOLKS' CONCERT.—The ladies of the Baptist church will give an old folks' concert on Tuesday evening next, at the church. The hymns and tunes of olden times will be rendered by a large chorus, ... who will be dressed in costumes of a hundred years ago. A very entertaining programme is being arranged, and will be published in a day or two.

INCORPORATED.—A new mining company under the name of the Farmers' Lodge, have filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state. Incorporators, J. M. Davis, Dr. J. W. McAfee and W. H. .... Object to open and work mines in ... county. Capital stock $50,000. Principal office to be located at Salem.

WIND STORM.—A correspondent writing from Oregon City states that a severe wind storm, accompanied by rain, prevailed there yesterday morning. Fences were blown down, signs loosened from their fastenings, windows shattered and many trees uprooted. Old inhabitants say it was the severest storm ever known there.

ARRESTED.—Chas. Atkinson, mate of the ... T. Crowell was arrested yesterday by a U. S. marshal charged with maltreating a sailor. He gave bonds for $100 and was released. ... the skipper not only refused to ... but was insulting, and he struck him ... discipline.

THE STEAMERS.—At seven o'clock yesterday morning the ... and Geo. W. Elder left Astoria for ... to anchor at Fort Stevens where they arrived at eleven o'clock. We have no news of their going to sea, and it is reasonable to assume that the bar was too rough to allow the vessels to cross.

EN ROUTE.—Deputy Sheriff George ... of Baker county arrived in the city last night en route to the penitentiary with two prisoners— ... and George Gordon, the former to serve a sentence of one year for assault with a dangerous weapon, and the latter two years for horse-stealing.

"BOUGHTON" INVESTIGATION.—A court of inquiry has been in session for two days in the office of Mr. Laidlaw, British vice consul, taking testimony with regard to the loss of the British ship Boughton, wrecked at Leadbetter point. ... A finding will probably be made ...

TRAINS DISCONTINUED.—On account of the prevalence of smallpox at Dayton, W. T.—one hundred cases and deaths at the rate of two per day being reported—the O. R. & N. Co. yesterday issued an order discontinuing all trains beyond Walla Walla until the scourge shall have abated.

COMMUTED.—Gov. Thayer has commuted the sentence of Joseph Marx, sent to the penitentiary from ... county, for a term of five years from Aug. ..., for the crime of larceny. Cause assigned ... executive clemency, uniform good conduct and the sentence being nearly expired.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—Monday afternoon while John ..., a driver for the U. S. brewery, was delivering beer in South Portland, the team ran away. He was thrown from his seat and his left leg broken near the ankle.

NATURALIZED.—Christian Ritter, a native of Russia, and August Stegman, of German birth, yesterday took oaths of allegiance to the United States before Judge S. W. Rice, and are added to the roll of American citizens.

SAWMILL BURNED.—The sawmill belonging to Messrs. Price & Knott, situated near Hubbard, Marion county, was burned Saturday night. No particulars could be gotten. The loss is thought to be about $2000.

ACCIDENT.—Monday afternoon, Mrs. S. S. White fell in front of her residence, corner First and ... streets, fractured her right arm at the wrist and received injuries about the head.

INSANE.—Yesterday, after examination by Drs. ... and Dickson, Mrs. S. Bunting was declared insane and will be committed to the asylum this morning.

REWARD.—The O. R. & N. Co. offer $50 reward for the recovery of the body of Charles Lake, who was drowned from the Willamette Chief, near Vancouver last Thursday.

RELEASED.—Geo. Wiseman, indicted for arson, yesterday gave bonds in the sum of $2500 and was released from custody by Sheriff Buchtel.

BRIEF NOTES FROM SCIO.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SCIO, Nov. 14, 1881.

The temperance question is warm here.

J. G. Johnson and R. Pentland, of this city, are in Portland.

The Christian church closed a successful protracted meeting last Wednesday.

The Baptists, under Revs. Hunsaker and Osborne, hold meetings this week.

Last week nine persons were immersed in Thomas creek on joining the Christian church.

Postoffice orders to the amount of $1637 have been sent from Scio postoffice since Aug. 15, 1881.

The Scio union Sunday school numbered 170 in attendance last Sunday. The school is ably conducted by J. S. Morris, superintendent.

Not an empty house nor store in town. Houses wanted, and citizens all seemingly contented and speak of good trade and plenty of work.

A rousing temperance meeting of the Blue Ribbon was held at the new church Saturday evening. Messrs. Hunsaker, Johnson, Barnes, Mayor Galy, Mr. Beard and others addressed the people.

The city of Scio has refused license to all the saloons. They are now selling by the quart. The city election comes off in December and the ballot proposes to settle the matter for at least one year.

We hear much comment on the action of Portland in not having some means to clear the obstructions in the river toward the ocean. Whatever prevents ships from coming to Portland affects prices of wheat, etc., here.

NEWS NOTES FROM EUGENE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

EUGENE, Nov. 14.

We have enjoyed almost a week of good weather.

Hon. J. M. Thompson is confined to his home on account of sickness.

The late rains have very much retarded farmers' operations, and many fallowed fields are awaiting fine weather for sowing.

The sportsman's club of this place had a big hunt last week and killed a large amount of game and had the same prepared for a supper by Mr. Charles Baker of the St. Charles. Many invited guests were present, including Prof. Condon and Col. J. McCraken of Portland.

Messrs. Green & Burneson harvested 9000 pounds of hops from Mr. J. H. Brown's hop yard east of town. The amount of acreage was only six and one-half acres, and roots only one year old. The crop was sent to San Francisco through Corbitt & Macleay of Portland, and brought 25¼ cents per pound, and netted over $1800, being over $250 profit on each acre.

Circuit court has been in session over a week and has had some heavy cases to handle, the murder case of John R. Cartwright taking several days, the accused being convicted of manslaughter. This trial has been a very interesting one, as it was tried at two terms before, the juries disagreeing. Cartwright has been sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of years.

PACIFIC COUNTY, W. T.

FUN ISLAND, Pacific Co., W. T., Nov. 7, 1881.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

In your issue of ... I notice a communication from Isaac Smith, signed by several others, in which I am charged with being a falsifier and with not minding my own business, and I ask of you space to make a brief reply, not to vindicate myself by any means, for in the community where I am known Smith is also known, but merely to explain why, in my letters to the Advocate, I have alluded to North river valley at all.

Pacific county I believe to be one of the best, if not the very best county in Washington territory for men of small means to secure a good start, either in farming or in the lumbering business. The Willapa river, running through this county from east to west, has on either bank thousands of acres of the very finest of agricultural and timber lands, belonging to the U. S. government and the N. P. R. R., in alternate sections. The government lands are subject to homestead and preemption entry, and the R. R. lands can be bought at low prices and on easy terms. A good wagon road traverses the entire length of the valley; the land is of extraordinary fertility and most of it easily cleared. The river is navigable for vessels of large size as far up as Shay's landing, some fifteen miles, and for smaller vessels to the head of tide water, some five miles further up, two steamers are making regular trips from Shay's landing to Oysterville and the head of Shoalwater bay. There is a No. 1 steam saw mill near the mouth of the river, with a capacity for cutting fifty thousand feet of lumber per day, thus furnishing a cash market for all the vast forests of fir and spruce along the river.

The Nasalle valley also contains some good farming and grazing lands and a very large amount of good timber, and it is useless to deny that occasional small farms can be found on North river, and a small amount of timber.

Now Mr. Smith, in a series of letters to THE OREGONIAN and other papers, has painted North river valley in such glowing terms as to attract a considerable number of people to his locality, but in almost every instance these people have returned so completely disgusted that they could not be induced to look farther, but have turned their faces homeward and given the whole country a bad name abroad. Occasionally, however, some of these victims have, after paying 50 cents a meal and $2 a day pilotage over the hills and windfalls of North river found their way into the Willapa valley. I have conversed with a number of these, and they agree, with remarkable unanimity, in pronouncing North river valley a complete humbug.

This is the simple reason I have attempted to prick this North river bubble. Instead of attracting a worthy class of immigrants to the Willapa, Nasalle and even North river valleys, Mr. Smith has, by his highly-colored and over wrought descriptions so alluring in print yet so different from the dry reality, actually driven them away.

He remarks, in his communication of September 4, that he has not sought to build up North river at the expense of the Willapa, yet I find in one of his letters that he advises immigrants seeking North river to "by no means go above Bay Center," and cautions them severely against trying to reach that valley by way of Riverside on the Willapa.

Now the secret of this warning is very simple. To reach the North river valley by way of Riverside one must traverse a considerable portion of the Willapa valley and also across Smith creek valley, which runs parallel to the Willapa and lies some two miles from it, and is legitimately considered as part of the Willapa valley, and very few who travel this route would ever care to reach North river.

Two of the signers of Mr. Smith's communication have since left that valley in disgust and I have no doubt would now be glad to indorse my description of that earthly paradise.

Why did not Mr. Smith procure the signature of the surveyor then in his locality? That would have carried some weight with it, and it may not be too late now though if that gentleman has made the statements he is credited with in regard to that valley, it would be a matter of great difficulty.

In conclusion, I would say to immigrants seeking cheap land and good locations, by all means come to Pacific county and look it all over before settling, not excepting North river valley, but remember 50 cents a meal and $2 a day pays for a great deal of dead head advertising.

"What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, etc." Respectfully, C. A. HEATH.

A joint stock company has been formed to build a public hall in Pendleton. A building 40x80 feet will be erected, costing about $2500. The shares are $50 each, all of which have been subscribed.

Heppner has had one case of small pox. The victim was Miss Nancy Yarl, a young lady about 20 years old. It is not known how she contracted the disease, and of the numerous persons exposed, none have taken it from her.

The store of Alvin & Hiestand situated on the Meadows, Umatilla, was burned recently and all its contents destroyed with the exception of about $150 worth of goods which were gotten out. The loss is about $2500 with no insurance. The fire originated by one of the employes going into a back room after night with a lighted candle to get some rope. While there he accidentally set fire to a curtain. The fire spread rapidly and the building being at some distance from any other house it was wrapped in flames before help could arrive.

M. Hanley last week sold to Gim Lin, a celestial miner from Applegate, fifty hogs, averaging 300 pounds each in weight.

Twenty-five persons and firms in Coos county pay over $100 in taxes yearly. At the head of the list stands the North Bend mill company, paying $1150.

Collector Hacker last week fined the captain of the Hera $500 for violating a United States law by entering the bay from a foreign port and passing Empire without landing and reporting at the custom house.

Nearly 52,000 salmon were taken on the Coquille this season. Machado & Jinks put up 850 barrels; Brown & Johnson 815, Tobin & Pershbaker 500, Adam Pershbaker 325, and John Lewis 100—in all 2590 barrels, worth in San Francisco $9 50 per barrel.

James Catching, who keeps a small dairy near Sumner, Coos county, has made and sold over 100 pounds of butter for each cow milked, besides raising all the calves. He has taken great pains to keep only the best cows for some years past, and has now probably the best average lot of cows in the county.

One horse was killed and several others crippled out of the band recently purchased in Jacksonville by the board of government officers while on their way to Roseburg. A number of them were tied together, and the accidents were caused by the animals running afoul of trees and being crowded off bridges while crossing.

A petition is in circulation in Coos county asking congress for a further appropriation of $25,000 for the completion of the breakwater at the mouth of the Coquille river. The work now reaches out ... feet, but this is not enough to cut through the sand-spit and change the channel from among the large and numerous rocks which at present infest it.

The Oregon Short Line.

[Hailey (Idaho) Times.]

This new line will be built as fast as men and money can do it. Work upon it will be continued all winter. The road will be 601 miles in length from Granger, in Wyoming, to Baker City, in Oregon. From the latter place the main line will be continued to Portland, and a branch will be built to Puget Sound. It will be straight as it can be built. In order to keep it straight no expense will be spared. East of Pocatello there is one place where the Portneuf river is crossed nineteen times in five and a half miles. At this place, however, a channel will be dug straightening the river, so that only six bridges will be required. At another point the grade crosses the same stream forty-four times in a distance of four miles. This number will be considerably lessened by turning the river into a new channel.

The road will probably cross the Snake river near the Little American Falls, about thirty-five miles southwest of Ross' fork. In this vicinity there is a place where Snake river forks, leaving a huge rock in the center. This rock will be used as a pier. From that point the road will cross the lava beds in a southwesterly direction, leaving Goose creek about thirty-five miles to the left and pass within fifteen or twenty miles of Boise City. The track across the lava beds will be laid on trestle work, filled in solid all the way. This must be because of the difficulty of blasting and grading in lava.

The course of the Wood river branch is not yet determined, neither is its initial point. But this much is decided, that the branch will be built next summer, and that it will be completed to Hailey by fall. As no road building is possible in this section in winter, the terminus will probably be at this point a year or two thereafter. In fact, it may remain here altogether, as no advantage can accrue to the company by building further up the river. With a railway to Hailey, all the trade of Sawtooth and the upper Salmon river country would be secured. Were the road built to Salmon flat, over the Sawtooth range, nothing more would be gained, while the cost of building and operating the road to that point would be enormous.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SALEM, Or., Nov. 15, 1881.

Whereas for a long period of time a custom has prevailed of setting apart a day of thanksgiving to the God of the universe:

And whereas, his excellency the president of the United States in compliance therewith has issued his proclamation recommending "that all people observe Thursday, the 24th day of November inst., as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer by ceasing so far as may be from their secular labors and meeting in their several places of worship, there to join in ascribing honor to Almighty God, whose goodness has been so manifest in our history and in our lives, and offering our fervent prayers that His bounties may continue to us and our children."

Now therefore, I, W. W. Thayer, governor of the state of Oregon, in view of the foregoing, and thinking it proper to follow the custom of others, do hereby appoint for the people of this commonwealth the day so recommended in the said proclamation of the president of the United States as a day of thanksgiving and earnestly request all to observe it in accordance with said recommendation so far as consistent with their homes, sentiments and convictions. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be hereunto affixed.

W. W. THAYER.

By the Governor,
R. P. EARHART, Secretary of State.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, Nov. 15, 1881.

Supreme court met at 10 o'clock A. M., full bench being present.

State of Oregon, resp., vs Wm. P. Clark, appl., appeal from Marion county, decree of lower court reversed and a new trial ordered. Opinion by Lord, J.

SYLLABUS.

The regular mode of examination into the general reputation is to inquire of the witness, first, whether he knew the general reputation of the person in question among his neighbors, and if his answer is in the affirmative, then he may be asked what that reputation is.

Stare decisis is the policy of the courts, and the principle upon which rests the authority of judicial decisions as precedents in subsequent litigation and this doctrine is not to be departed from, except when subsequent examination shows the case to have been decided contrary to principle.

William and Walter Ruble, apps., vs the Coyote Gold and Silver Mining Company, respt.; decree of the court below affirmed. Opinion by Watson, J.

SYLLABUS.

1. In the absence of malice and want of probable cause, a party injured by a preliminary injunction improperly issued, is confined to his remedy upon the undertaking given by the party procuring the same.

2. Whether the remedy of the injured party be upon the undertaking, or under peculiar circumstances an action on the case, he must seek his relief at law and not in equity.

3. The undertaking being in terms joint, but the injury being several, owing to the distinct interests of the parties injured in the property affected by the injunction and the amounts of damage suffered by them being different, will not entitle them to sue in equity; there is still an adequate remedy at law under the provisions of the civil code.

Lamb & Bush, resps., vs R. C. Ramsby, et al., apps.; appeal from Marion county. Cause on trial.

Ordered that the court take a recess until 1:30 o'clock P. M.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1881.

SYNOD OF THE COLUMBIA.

(Concluded from First Page.)

western New York and northern Ohio. He was a member of Rev. Sidney Rigdon's church in Mentor, Ohio. Perhaps Pratt was the [illegible] who told Rigdon of the money-digger Smith. The mildest criticism that can be passed upon Mr. Spalding's fancy sketch is that the interest is not well sustained, and that it indicates the languor and [illegible] of the physical decline of its author. But it is hardly fair to speak of the intellectual merits of a book which was, without question, grossly altered by Rigdon and Smith to adapt it to the [illegible] of the Latter Day Saints. When new commands were given by the angel, whether to institute the order of the priesthood of Melchizedek, or to engraft on the system permission for the polygamous or the spiritual marriage, Rigdon's pen was ever ready to issue the encyclical, simulating Mr. Spalding's Hebraic idioms.

Mormonism fairly started, Smith prophesied, Rigdon and Pratt preached, Cowdery baptized, Harris paid. But no prophet is accepted in his own country. Converts came in tardily. The angel said, "Move forward to Kirtland, Ohio." This was near Rigdon's old parish. From this place they were soon expelled by the righteous indignation of an outraged people. Is there any significance in the fact that the Ohio Mormon encampment was located but a few miles from the home of our beloved President Garfield? Had their disgraceful career in his state anything to do with the manly words of his inaugural?

Those who originated Mormonism now stand before the tribunal of that Being who has threatened to "silence lying lips." In 1844, Joe Smith, when but thirty-six years old, was assassinated at Nauvoo, Ill. Parley P. Pratt died in the same manner in Arkansas in 1856 or 1857. After Smith's decease, Rigdon naturally aspired to the dictatorship. But he was defeated by Brigham Young, was expelled from the church and given over by Brigham to the buffetings of Satan. Rigdon has since died, as far as we know, without penitence or confession.

An apology might be offered for the above puerile and revolting statements were they not connected with the beginning of the institution of Mormonism, which, as another has remarked, "presents a problem which the wisest politician has failed to solve, and whose outcome lies in the mystery of the future."

The fact that in this nineteenth century, a delusion as wicked as it is patent, should spread itself "like a green bay tree," not alone through Utah, but into adjacent territories, where already it begins to control the elections, shows what the power of Satan still is in the world.

Patriotism dies away under the shadow of Mormonism. On that sad day, July 2, 1881, when grief, elsewhere paralyzing and universal, welded us into a nation, into a union indeed, there were demonstrations of joy in Salt Lake City.

Is there not need of prompt, vigorous action in order to destroy, at its very roots, a tree, known by such fruit? Experience proves that let the minds and hearts of children be pre-empted by truth, error then cannot long maintain a foothold. To this end, let more Christian schools be quickly and quietly established wherever Mormonism now prevails. This can be done by the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church, so far as the women of the church provide the means for such extension. An average outlay of $600 the first year, with salary of teacher, is needed at each station. This can be divided between several societies.

And thus this evil be effectually rooted out of our land—

The committee on records reported the records of the presbytery of Oregon correct, and recommended their approval. The report was adopted.

The statistical report of the presbytery of Idaho was read and referred to the committee on narrative.

Rev. E. N. Condit gave notice that he would bring up the subject of synodical missionary later.

The report of the committee on Sabbath school work was read and approved. The Sabbath schools are in a flourishing condition, and under the guidance of efficient officers and teachers are accomplishing good results. The shorter catechism is taught, and the youth of the church are instructed in its distinctive doctrines. Great praise is due our board of publication, for the excellent literature which it furnishes and the valuable assistance which it renders to teachers and scholars.

In addition to these Sabbath schools under the supervision of our church, there are many other schools with which some of the members of the synod are identified, and in which they are interested, that are not denominational. And although denominational comity forbids reporting them, yet it may be said that they are prosperous, and are accomplishing much good. Children uninstructed in religious things at home are here taught the glorious truths of the Christian religion. Thus is the grand army of Sunday school children recruited, and thus, in the salvation of souls, is the kingdom of glory hastened. But while some are thus brought under religious instruction, yet we are assured that multitudes of children within the bounds of synod are without any religious training at home, and do not attend any Sabbath school. How to reach this class and how to further the general interests of this department of church work, are the practical questions that present themselves before us as a synod. We trust that the special attention which shall be directed to this cause during the present meeting of synod, will satisfactorily solve these questions and awaken a greater interest in this great and glorious work.

Synod then proceeded to the selection and election of a synodical missionary. The name of Robt. W. Hill was presented for that office, a vote by ballot was taken and he was unanimously elected.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, The synod of the Columbia, with great unanimity, has elected Rev. Robert W. Hill, as its synodical missionary, and

Whereas, Under instructions of the Presbytery of Oregon, he began the work of a Presbyterial missionary Oct. 1, 1881. Therefore,

Resolved, That the board of home missions is hereby requested to commission him as synodical missionary from Oct. 1st, at the usual salary and traveling expenses granted by the board to other synodical missionaries. And the stated clerk is hereby directed to transmit a copy of this action, forthwith, to the secretaries of said board.

A paper from the woman's committee was read, and the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we learn with satisfaction of the organization of "The North Pacific Branch of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions," and bid it a hearty God speed.

Resolved, That we earnestly request all the churches in our communion to form local auxiliaries.

Resolved, That we earnestly request each church in the bounds of our synod to send four women, as delegates, to attend a meeting of the above mentioned board in connection with the next annual meeting of this synod.

Rev. G. L. Deffenbaugh presents some interesting facts with reference to our Indian missions in Idaho, as follows: Under God's blessing missionary work among the different Indian tribes east of the mountains is prospering. The Nez Perces, Spokans and a portion of the Umatilla tribe, are under care of the Nez Perces mission. Tours are made to different parts of the field in which the missionary is accompanied by Rev. Robert Williams and different ones of the native licentiates and often by several lay members of the Nez Perces churches. Nearly one-third of the whole number of Nez Perces are church members belonging to churches located at Kamiah and Lapwai. A church at Deep creek, W. T., has a membership of nearly 100 Spokan Indians and a number of the Umatilla Indians, who are under the care of the Catholics, have expressed a desire to have a Presbyterian organization on their reserve, and on a recent visit to them, arrangements were made looking to that end.

All these Indians are anxious to hear the gospel and to learn the way of life, and could the people of the land see them in their simple, childlike, though earnest worship, they would get new and more exalted views of Indian mission work. The Indians desire and need the sympathy and prayers of the whole church.

Next spring two native Nez Perces licentiates will be sent to the Spokan church and two to the Umatilla people under the care of the board of foreign missions. These licentiates are under the instruction of Miss S. L. McBeth, a lady who has spent several years among the Nez Perces teaching young men theology and giving instruction in different branches of secular knowledge. Six of her pupils are licentiates under care of the presbytery of Idaho, and two have been ordained to the gospel ministry. Through these men she is doing a good work. Her sister, Miss Kate McBeth, is laboring successfully among the women, confining her instructions for the present mostly to the wives of the licentiates, that they may be qualified to go out with their husbands to active mission work among neighboring tribes.

The Saturday evening meeting was devoted to two half-hour lectures, Rev. C. R. Shields speaking upon "Questions of the day," and Rev. J. V. Milligan, discussing "The Difficulties of Scripture."

Saturday Evening's Addresses.

"QUESTIONS OF THE DAY."

(By Rev. C. R. Shields.)

In considering this topic the speaker first treated briefly concerning the inspiration of the scriptures, a question which he said was to a large extent agitating the minds of biblical scholars at the present day. A question, however, which related not so much to the fact of inspiration as to the method. Christians generally throughout Christendom care more for the fact than the method, and therefore rest in the conviction and the assurance that "all scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable, &c."

The next question which was briefly considered was in regard to the new revision of the Bible—its influence upon church work and the cause of Christianity in general, and especially with reference to the perpetuity of the word of God. Though some few Christians may have fears as to the results, the great majority rest upon the assurance that "though the leaf withereth and the flower thereof falleth away, yet the word of our God shall stand forever."

Passing from these topics, the speaker next referred to the question with regard to the efficacy of prayer, a question which was being discussed—perhaps in many cases mentally rather than orally—and yet it was undoubtedly discussed by the larger proportion of the American people. Upon this topic he read:

Since the death of President Garfield, there are thousands—and may we not say millions—of people throughout the length and breadth of our land who are ready to exclaim, "where now is the Christian's God? and what profit do they have when they pray unto him?" If the prayers of the whole Christian nation, and in fact of the whole Christian world, including millions of people who have united their supplications at a throne of Grace for one specific object, have, evidently, as they claim, proved of no avail; then what encouragement do Christians have to pray to God at all? And why do they not give up this foolish notion that the God of the universe who rules by laws—fixed and invariable; or who is busy with the government and control of millions of worlds will condescend—deign to hear and answer the prayers of such insignificant creatures as dwell upon this earth. But those who reason thus are ignorant of the nature of this God of the universe to whom Christians pray. They are ignorant of the conditions upon which God has promised to answer prayer. And they are ignorant also of the confidence with which Christians pray to him, for the Apostle John declares, "This is the confidence that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us." That God does answer prayer is a fact which is not only revealed everywhere throughout his word, but it is a fact which is also verified everywhere throughout the world in the experience and testimony of millions of Christian people. One might as well try to make a man believe on a cloudy day that no one had ever seen the sun, or that it would never again shine upon the earth, as to try to make Christians believe that God never had answered prayer or that he would never answer it again, because in one particular instance he had seemingly or even in fact denied their request.

God has never promised to answer prayer unconditionally. For Him to do so would be virtually equivalent to transferring the government of the affairs of this world into the hands of men, which would necessarily result in anarchy and confusion, on account of the various conflicting desires and aspirations of mankind. With every promise a condition is either expressed or implied, and if implied it is expressed in other portions of scripture. We must ask according to His will, or else we have no reason to believe that He will hear us. It is His revealed will.

1. That we should ask in faith. "He that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is the rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." The atheist cannot offer acceptable prayer to God, for he does not believe that there is a God. The scientist who believes that God is so completely under the dominion of the laws that He has established that He can neither control nor vary them, cannot offer acceptable prayer to God, for he believes that he cannot or will not answer prayer, and therefore that He is not the rewarder of them that diligently seek Him.

A very common objection to this theory of prayer is that God rules by laws which are unchangeable, and that we by praying cannot alter the purpose of God. But the design of prayer is not to change God's purposes, for it is His revealed purpose to answer the prayers which are offered to Him according to His will. God is able to combine the forces of nature in such a way as to bless the labors which men bestow upon the soil, and it is His will to do it, and He is also able to combine the forces of nature in such a way as to answer their prayers, and it is His will to do it. When the Savior says: "All things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive," it is essential that we should understand what is meant by prayer before we can understand the promise. All true prayer is the offering up of our desire to God for things agreeable to the will.

2. We must also ask in the name of Christ. The Saviour assures us that whatsoever we shall ask the father in his name he will give us. He is the only mediator between God and man, and there is no other way by which we can approach the father except through the son.

3. We must ask for things which would really be for our good. In our shortsightedness and blindness and mistaken notions as to what would really be for our good, we sometimes ask for things which would prove a curse to us, and then God in mercy withholds them from us. England's great poet says:

> "We, ignorant of ourselves,
> Beg often our own harms,
> Which the wise powers
> Deny us for our good;
> So we find we profit
> By losing of our prayers."

4. Another condition of acceptable prayer, is that we must ask for things which it would be for the glory of God to grant; hence the need of the spirit's help to indite all our petitions, if we would ask according to the will of God. It is for the glory of God that he should fulfill all the promises which he has made to his people, and he does fulfill them, as his people can everywhere testify. The hearts of men are in the hand of the Lord, as rivers of water, and he turneth them whithersoever he will. He not only understands, but also has control over all the secret combinations of nature, both in the physical world and in the mental world, and whenever the good of his people requires it he can touch a secret spring here and a secret spring there, and thus cause all things to work together for good to them that love him.

"THE DIFFICULTIES OF SCRIPTURE."

(By Rev. J. V. Milligan.)

This theme in its wildest interpretation suggests the source of all the controversies of the church in all ages. I shall not therefore attempt to discuss in one brief essay the theme that has called forth more discussion than all other themes together, nor shall I take up one class of the difficulties that do arise in and from the scriptures and discuss it in any such sense as to explain and remove the difficulty. But it shall be my aim to show why we should expect to find some difficulty in the study of the scripture, and what should be the effect of this fact upon us.

1. The source of the scriptures ought to prepare us to expect some difficulty in understanding them. We believe the Bible to be a revelation from God. When we come to the study of this word, it is an attempt of the finite mind to grasp the purpose and thought of the infinite. "A religion without its mystery would be a temple without its God." If there be nothing here but what is easily understood, then we must admit that it might have been devised by a human mind. But what finite minds cannot comprehend finite mind could not create. Thus certain difficulties become a strong proof of the divine origin of the Bible.

2. In the Bible God, who is a spirit, deals with our spirits. We know but little of our own spirits or their modes of operation. Where the scriptures touch our nature on its least familiar side there is difficulty, and when they speak of the eternal spirit there they are hardest to be understood.

3. The object for which a revelation is given prepares us to expect difficulties. The problem which infinite wisdom and love had solved was this: How to punish sin and yet pardon the sinner; how the criminal might escape the penalty without violating God's own eternal justice. To make known this solution to the guilty soul was the prime object of a revelation. To human reason and experience this is impossible. Shall we expect to understand easily all the steps in the working out of the plan which is so far above our capacities?

4. Difficulties of interpretation—

1. We have only copies. Knowing how easy it is to make mistakes in copying, and noting the variations in the most ancient manuscripts we see how this may become a source of difficulty with the passages where the differences occur. But no doctrine of the Christian religion can thus be controverted.

2. The original languages are dead and difficult and unfamiliar or unknown to the mass of readers. Every scholar knows that it is impossible to translate and still preserve all the exact shades of meaning. The translation will not remove the inherent difficulties.

3. The English reader meets the minor difficulties arising from the changes in a living language.

4. We have made difficulties for ourselves by dividing into chapters and verses and considering out of their connection and regardless of the writer's purpose.

5. The history of the times, the circumstances of the writer and of those to whom it was written are unfamiliar to the mass of the readers.

When we remember how many and how great are the difficulties in the way of understanding the scriptures, we are surprised at the clearness of the revelation God has given us. For there is no doctrine essential to salvation that is in the least obscure, and no reasonable one can give this as an excuse for doubting or disbelieving the Bible. So clear is it that "he that runs may read." All the difficulties rightly considered tend to strengthen our faith in the Divine Author of the Bible, and urge us on to greater effort and more diligent study of them. Thanks to him who has so loved us as to give us so full and clear a revelation of his will and has preserved it for us in its purity.

SUNDAY, Nov. 13, 1881.

The morning service at the Presbyterian church were conducted by Rev. R. W. Hill, synodical missionary elect, for the synod of the Columbia.

Rev. Thos. M. Boyd of Lewiston, from the Presbytery of Idaho, addressed a closely attentive audience from the text 1st Peter, 2:5, "Ye also as lively stones are built up, a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ." After the sermon, the sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered by Revs. Robe and Ross, assisted by Elders Davis, Templeton, Voorhees and Stowell. The administration of the cup was accompanied with most appropriate and edifying remarks from Rev. Geo. Ross.

The Union Sabbath school meeting at 3 P. M., was addressed by Rev. C. R. Shields and Rev. I. H. Condit. The former speaker occupied twenty minutes in a most interesting manner, holding the unbroken attention of both children and parents, while imparting successfully a few simple object lessons. To do this requires special tact.

In the evening the church was filled to its utmost capacity by an intelligent and appreciative audience to hear an able lecture from Rev. A. L. Lindsley. Subject: Thomas Paine. The highest expectations were fully met. The doctor's hearers were not merely entertained but informed and convinced. An abstract of his address is given below. Thanks are due to the members of the choir for the excellent music furnished throughout the day.

MONDAY, Nov. 14, 1881.

Synod convened and after spending a half hour in devotional exercise proceeded to business.

The place for the next annual meeting was fixed at Portland.

The committee appointed to examine the printed minutes of the synod submitted a report which, after a thorough discussion, was adopted.

The committee on home missions, Indian affairs, and church erection, submitted a supplemental report. Pending the adoption of this report, a recess was taken until 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rev. J. F. Royal of the M. E. church, being present was invited to the privileges of the floor.

The report of the committee on home missions and accompanying resolutions were laid on the table until after the report of the committee on minutes of the general assembly shall be received.

The committee on bills and overtures submitted a report, pending which the synod adjourned in order to accept an invitation to visit the public state buildings.

EVENING SESSION.

Synod met and after devotional exercises several papers on different topics were read.

Rev. Robert Robe, of Brownsville, delivered an address on "Prophecy." By those who know best this venerable "father" in our synod, it has been said that he never has preached a poor sermon. Of very few ministers can this remark be truthfully made. Judging from his treatment of this difficult subject, "Prophecy," the synod will doubtless find, if his useful life is continued among us, that his reputation as a lecturer will be in no wise inferior to his reputation as a minister.

A paper prepared by Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Port Townsend, on Thomas Chalmers, was read by Rev. Anthony Simpson.

Another prepared by John R. Thompson of Olympia, on "Miracles," was read by Rev. T. C. Armstrong, of New Tacoma.

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure-all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

U. S. MARSHAL'S CITATION.—UNITED States of America, district of Oregon, ss: Whereas, a libel of information hath been filed in the district court of the United States of America for the district of Oregon, on the 3rd day of November, 1881, by Mr. Rufus Mallory, United States attorney, against 14 cases of distilled spirits and 2 cases of wine, which, by Mr. J. C. Burr, a special agent of the Treasury Department of the United States, on the 9th day of October, 1881, at Harrisburg, in the territory of Alaska, were seized as forfeited to the United States for the reasons and causes in said libel mentioned, and praying the usual process and monition of the said court in that behalf to be made, and that all persons interested in the said property may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the said property above mentioned may, for the causes in said libel mentioned, be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided. Therefore in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of the said court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give notice unto all persons claiming the said property, or knowing or having anything to say why the same should not be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, pursuant to prayer of said libel of information, that they be and appear before the said district court, in the city of Portland, in said district, on the 5th day of December, 1881, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, if the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise at the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose a claim for the same and to make their allegations in that behalf. Dated at Portland, in said district, this 12th day of November, 1881.

EDWARD S. KEARNEY,
United States Marshal for the District of Oregon.

ASSIGNEE'S NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT CHAS Hirstel, as A. Hirstel & Co., doing business in Portland, Oregon, and of the firm name of Chas. Hirstel & Co., did on the 31st day of October, 1881, execute to the undersigned an assignment of all their firm and individual property for the benefit of their creditors, under and in pursuance of the act of the legislative assembly of this state of Oregon, entitled "An act to secure creditors a just division of the estates of debtors who convey to assignees for the benefit of creditors," and that the said assignment was duly recorded on October 18th, 1881, in the office of the county clerk of Multnomah county, Oregon, and on the last named date the undersigned duly accepted the trusts imposed in him by said assignment.

S. BAUM, Assignee.

Dated this 1st day of October, 1881.

APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR.—Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has, by the Hon. County Court of Multnomah county, Oregon, been duly appointed administrator of the estate of Anton Lange, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate are requested to present the same, with vouchers, to the undersigned at the law offices of J. C. Chapman, southwest corner of First and Morrison streets, Portland, Oregon, within six months from date, or the same will be barred.

CHAUNCEY DALE,
Administrator of the estate of Anton Lange, deceased.
